PROFESSIONAL IS MARKET; DEALINGS SMALL IN SESSION

Metal Shares Contributed the Best Portion to the Sales of the Day; Some War Stocks Gained While Others Lost.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—The brief session represented little more than the euphoria of professional elements, dealing in 229,239 shares. Metal issues contributed the best portion of the total sales. New Haven, American Tobacco attracted attention because of their weakness. A few speculation were lifted to new records. These included General Motors, up 6 points to 45 1/2, Cuban American Sugar, 7 7/8 to 15 7/8 and Allis Chalmers, preferred 2 1/2 to 3 1/2. There were tentative gains of from one to three points in the usual variety of war and semi-war stocks, these being offset by an irregularity in copper, petroleum and mercantile markets preferred. General Chemical in some transactions lost 10 points to 42 1/2. Shares in the investment class were dull. The trading in United States Steel was light, while the stock recorded a fractional loss. American Can yielded under the influence of profit taking the same condition applying to American Smelting. A better tone was manifested by American in the London market. Sterling and Paris checks were higher while marks were heavy. Bonds were firm on small trading. Total sales, per value, $2,728,999.

Henrietta is vividly beautiful and blonde, while equally fair to look upon, is blind.
On the death of their parents in a French province, they are sent to Paris where an uncle has promised to provide for them. On their arrival in the capital, Henrietta, who has attracted the eye of the rascally Marquis De Presles, is abducted by his orders. Louise falls into hands of Mother Frochard a professional beggar.
Mother Frochard has two sons, Jacques, a swarming handsome dandy, too proud to work, and Pierre, a hunchback, who earns an honest living as a knife grinder. In the squallid cellar that the Frochards call home Louise is terrified by the unwelcome attentions paid her by Jacques. Pierre on the other hand, does all in his power to protect the blind girl.
Meanwhile, Henrietta has been taken to the Marquis' chateau. Frightened by her experiences and half mad with apprehension, she appeals to the assembled guests, one of whom, Chevalier De Yaudrey, rescues her after a duel with De Presles. Won by Henrietta's appealing beauty, the Chevalier wishes to marry her.
How she escapes this fate and why her blind sister finds the way to peace and happiness, makes a story of compelling charm and thrilling interest. "The Two Orphans" well deserves the term, "photoplay supreme."
